

Halton Senior Co-housing Project

Newsletter - Winter 2023

As our plans for the project proved not to be feasible in the current economic climate we have asked a variety of companies to make presentations to us about alternative suggestions.

Plans are underway to commission a new feasibility study for an alternative style of cohousing development on our site at Forge Lane. This may result in a smaller number of homes than we had originally intended so we will not be accepting new members until there is a clearer idea of the number of homes that can be accommodated. A revised Planning Application will need to be submitted so there is likely to be a delay of several months before we are ready invite new members to apply. Further updates will be provided on this site at quarterly intervals.

Lunch at the Red Door

Members of the Co-housing met for lunch at the RED Door Café in January despite the road being closed due to a collapsed stone wall just a few yards away(see photo below). The staff had us enthralled by a piece of CCTV footage of the moment the wall came down and it was really fortunate that there were no people or vehicles passing at the time.
